

Title: INTEGRATED CIRCUIT PROBE CARD INSPECTION SYSTEM

Abstract

5 A system for inspecting integrated circuit probe cards using a video camera positioned to view probe points on the cards from below. A precision movement stage is used to move the video camera into a known position for viewing the probe points. Analysis of the video image and the stage position are used to determine the relative positions of the probe points.